The New York Orator Assalls the Practices of Protection.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Immediately after the reading of the President's Hawaiian message to-day, the tariff debate was resumed, and Mr. Pickler (Rep. S. D.) made a vigorous speech, on the discrimination the bill made against the farmers.

Mr. Pickler was followed by Mr. Turner (Dem., Ga.), a member of the Ways and Means Committee. He said that in the present bill the interests of the farmer, both of the North work in the research of the the special mark of the second mate, and he claims to have received many crusi beatings on the voyage. side, Mr. Cockran made his speech of an hour and a haif.

If he believed the passage of this bill would operate to create a deficiency in the revenues, he declared he would not support it. He said the reduction of duties would operate to so increase the revenue of the Government as to place the Treasury again in that overflowing condition in which the Democratic policy left it in 1888.

A good-looking, fashionably-dressed woman, thirty-four years of age, cailing herself Theresa Gunther, was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court this morning on the charge of bigamy. The complainant was Henry E. Acker, a steam-postport. The time for closing of Saratoga's stakes is Monday, Jan. 15. It would be an injustice to owners already entered to extend the time limit, yet on the other hand, it would immeasurably improve the character of racing at that course.

Mr. Reed remained calmly leaning over the rail at the back of the hall. He made no attempt to reply.

If protection maintained or raised wages, the protection maintained or raised wages, the protective wall could not be raised high enough for him.
